You have given a sign to the Al - euts, O Lord, —

by the hand of the Monk — Her - man, that they might powerfully entrust them - selves to You, O Son of God;

that being saved from the de - mon - ic dark - ness,
[they might enter Your Light...]

they might enter Your Light with - out eve - ning.

Therefore we glorify Your e - con - o - my of love for man - kind, — // O Almighty Je - sus, the Sav - ior of our souls.

Sticheron 2

Like Your Apostles, O Lord, the ven' - ra - ble Her - man, dwelling by the ocean, began catching not fish from [water, but hu-man souls.]

wa - ter, but hu - man souls. With the help of Your grace his catch was might - y. Having led the people to the sol - id shore of Or - tho - dox - y, he is glo - ri - fied in Your pres - ence. Therefore we glorify Your e - con - o - my of love for man-kind, // O Almighty Je - sus, the Sav - ior of our souls.

Sticheron 3

In tender compassion, You accepted the struggle of the Monk Her - man, O Lord, and bestowed up - on him the help of grace, completing his growth to the stat - ure of

Your A - pos - tles, and You received him into the dwellings of the King - dom of Heav - en, grant - ing - him

[boldness to pray . . .]

bold-ness to pray for the peo - ples. Therefore we glorify

Your e - con - o - my of love for man-kind, — // O Almighty

Je - sus, the Sav - ior of our souls.
