

Psalm 103 [104]

P. Drobac

1*

Bless the Lord, — O my soul, O Lord, my God, — Thou art ver - y — great,

Refrain:

Glo - ry to Thee, O God, Al - le - lu - - - ia.

2◊

Thou art clothed with hon - our and maj - es - ty, who cov - er - est Thy - self with light as with a gar - ment, Refrain

3♯

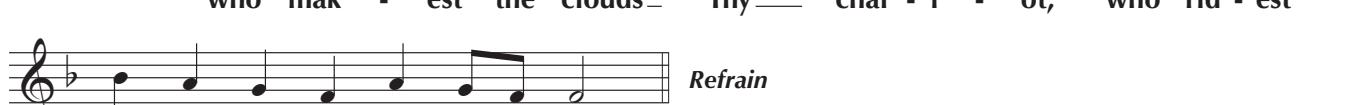

who stretch - est out the heav - ens like a tent, who hast laid the beams - of Thy cham - bers on the wa - ters, Refrain

4◊

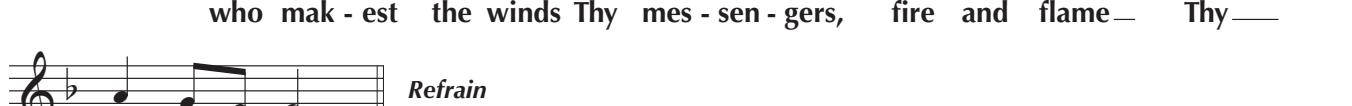

who mak - est the clouds Thy — char - i - ot, who rid - est on the wings - of the wind, Refrain

5*

who mak - est the winds Thy mes - sen - gers, fire and flame — Thy — min - is - ters. Refrain

6◊

Thou didst set the earth on its foun - da - - tions, so that it should nev - er be — moved. Refrain

Refrain:

Glo - ry to Thee, O God, Al - le - lu - ia.

F

Thou didst cov - er it with the deep as with a gar - ment; the wa - ters stood a - bove the moun - tains. Refrain

F

C

At Thy re - buke they fled; at the sound of Thy thun - der they took to flight. Refrain

F

F

The moun-tains rose, the val - leys sank down to the place which Thou didst ap-point for them. Thou didst set a bound which they should not pass, so that they might not a - gain cov - er the earth. Refrain

C

F

C

Thou mak - est springs gush forth in the val - leys, they flow be - tween the hills, they give drink to eve - ry beast of the field; the wild as - ses quench their thirst. Refrain

F

F

F

By them the birds of the air have their hab - i - ta -

F

tions, they sing a - mong the branch - es. Refrain

Ps 103 p.3

12◊ F

Glo - ry to Thee, O God, Al - le - lu - ia.

C

Refrain

From Thy loft - y a - bode Thou wa - ter - est the moun - tains; the - earth— is sat - is - fied— with the fruit— of Thy— work.

13* F

Thou dost cause the grass to grow— for the cat - tle, and plants for

Refrain

man to cul - ti - vate,

14◊ F

that he may bring forth food— from the earth,— and wine to glad - den the heart of man, oil to make his face— shine, and bread to strength - en— man's— heart.

Refrain

15♯ F

The trees of the Lord are wa - tered a - bun - dant - ly, the ce - dars of Leb - a - non— which He plant - ed.

Refrain

16◊ F

In them the birds— build— their— nests; the stork— has her home— in the fir—— trees.

C

Refrain

17* F

The high moun - tains are for the wild goats, the rocks -

Refrain

are a ref - uge for the badg - ers.

18◊ F C F

Thou hast made the moon to mark the sea - sons; the sun - knows its

Refrain

time for set - ting.

19♯ F

Thou mak - est dark - ness, and it is night, when all the beasts

Refrain

of the for - est - creep - forth.

20◊ F C

The young - li - ons roar - for their prey, - seek - ing their food from - God. When the sun a - ris - es, they get - them a - way and lie down - in their dens.

Refrain

21* F C

Man goes forth - to his work and to his la - - bour un - til the eve - ning. O - Lord, how man - i - fold - are Thy works, in wis - dom

Refrain

hast Thou made them - all;

Ps 103 p.5

Refrain: C

Glo - ry to Thee, O God, Al - le - lu - ia.

22◊ F C

the earth is full of Thy crea - tures. Yon - der is the sea, great and wide, which teems with things in - nu - mer - a - ble, F Refrain

liv - ing things both small and great.

F

23♯ There go the ships, and Le - vi - a - than which Thou didst form to sport in it. These all look to Thee, to give them their food in due sea - son. Refrain

F C

24◊ When Thou giv - est to them, they gath - er it; when Thou o - pen - est Thy hand, they are filled with good things. Refrain

F C

25* When Thou hid - est Thy face, they are dis - mayed; when Thou tak - est a - way their breath, they die and re - turn to their dust. Refrain

F C

26◊ When Thou send - est forth Thy Spir - it, they are cre - at - ed, and Thou re - new - est the face of the ground. Refrain

Refrain: C F

Glo - ry to Thee, O God, Al - le - lu - - ia.

27‡ F

May the glo - ry of the Lord en - dure for - ev - er, may the Lord

Refrain

re - joice in His works,

28◊ F C

who looks on the earth and it trem - bles, who touch - es the moun - tains and they smoke.

F Refrain

29* F C

I will sing to the Lord as long as I live; I will sing prais - es to my God while I have be - ing.

F Refrain

30◊ F C

May my med - i - ta - tion be pleas - ing to Him, for I re - joyce in the—Lord. Let sin - ners be con - sumed from the earth, and let the wick - ed be no - more.

Refrain

31‡ F

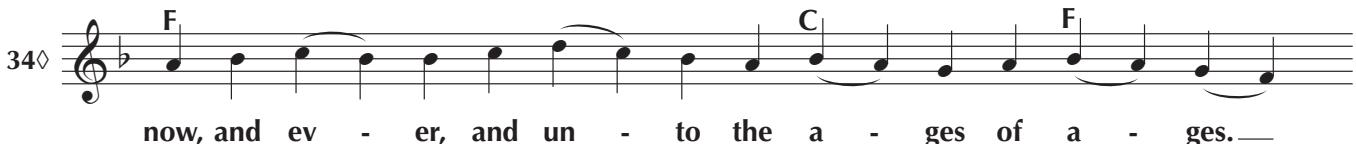

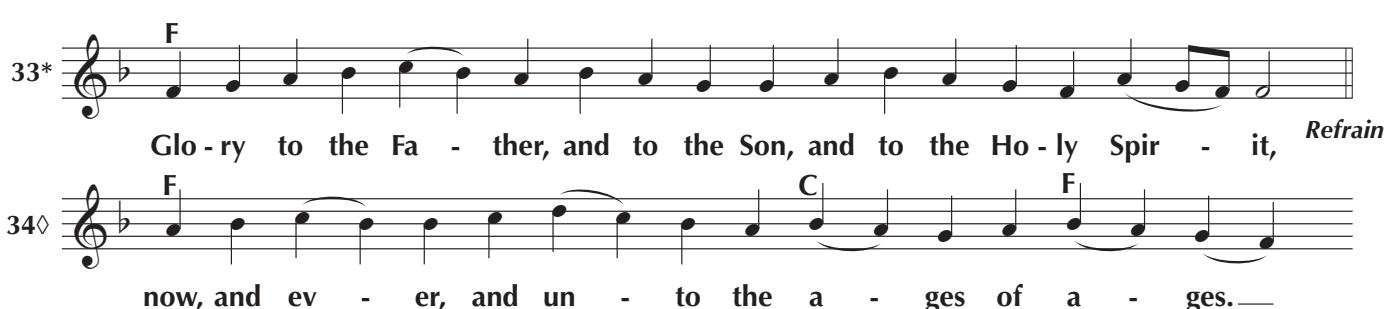

Bless the Lord,— O my—soul. The sun— knows its time for set - ting. Thou mak - est dark - ness— and— it is— night.

Refrain

Ps 103 p.7

A - men.

A few notes...

- This setting is not in any particular tone, though its similarities to Byzantine plagal fourth (ironologic) and several Serbian tones are noted and potentially somewhat helpful. If it is local practice, for example, to sing the Anoixantaria (the concluding verses for Psalm 103 for Great Vespers at a feast), this setting could be sung up to v.24 as a prelude instead of reading the opening of the psalm.
- The phrases cycle through low (*), middle (◊) and high (‡) tessituras, and that organization might be used to aid in antiphonal singing. For example, a soloist or small group could sing odd numbered verses, with even numbered verses and refrains sung tutti. Or two soloists/small groups could alternate singing the high and low phrases, with the intervening middle phrases sung tutti. There are many permutations...
- Excerpting verses to shorten the setting might also be desirable. Doing so would likely disrupt the regular alternation of low, middle and high phrases, but that should not be a deterrent to experimentation.