To the clergy of the Orthodox Church in America, beloved children in the Lord,

Christ is in our midst!

I write to commend to you this new edition of the sacred Diptychs of the Orthodox Church in America.

St. Paul writes to the Church at Thessalonica, and to Christians throughout all lands and ages: “We would not have you ignorant, brethren, concerning those who are asleep, that you may not grieve as others do who have no hope” (1 Thess. 4:13). From these words, two facts are immediately apparent: that Christians are expected to grieve, to mourn those who have fallen asleep; and that we should do so with hope in Christ, trusting in the victorious power of his Rising from the dead.

A concrete expression of our faith in the Resurrection and our hope in Christ’s victory is our practice of prayer for the faithful departed. Though they have disappeared from our bodily sight, they are not beyond the reach of God: even if we descend into the darkness of death, into the depths of hades, he is there present (Ps. 138:8). He is not the God of the dead, but of the living; therefore, the faithful members of his Body, though they have departed this life, cannot be held fast by death (Mt. 22:32; Acts 2:24). They remain members of the same Body as we. Therefore, through Christ, in the Spirit, our prayers can still console and accompany them beyond the grave. We express our faith in him and our hope in his triumph by boldly praying for those who have departed this life.

I have written of consolation and accompaniment, and these tender words remind us that intercessory prayer is an expression of love, of care for another's well-being and salvation. Prayer for the dead, in particular, is an act of love, for love is strong as death (Cant. 8:6). By the power of his almighty and divine love for mankind, our Lord besieged hell itself and overcame its dark power. We participate in his conquest of death when we, with our own feeble love strengthened by his grace, beseech the merciful God that the power of that victory would be made manifest to and through the faithful departed. Prayer for the departed is our prayer that "the mystery hidden for ages and generations . . . now made manifest to his saints" may come to pass in our departed fathers and brethren, for this mystery is nothing other than "Christ in you, the hope of glory" (Col. 1:26–27).

When we speak of love, however, we must bear in mind that Christian love, unlike worldly love, extends beyond our family and friends; as the Lord says, even publicans love those who love them (Mt. 5:46). Christian love ultimately encompasses the entire Church, even embracing the entire world. Therefore, our clergy, who are called to be teachers and examples of the Christian life and the love of Christ, traditionally demonstrate and live this vocation of love by praying for the faithful departed—not just family and friends, but all the departed servants of their local Church.

To this end, we provide this updated Commemorative List of the Departed Servants of Orthodoxy in North America for the use of our clergy. I strongly urge all clergy who regularly celebrate divine services to make annual commemoration at the proskomedia of each of the men and women whose names are entered here, reading the appropriate selection of names either on a weekly or monthly basis. If it be possible, I further suggest that our clergy also make daily remembrance of each day's names, whether in public worship, as at daily Vespers or Matins, or in private prayer. Recall the saying of the Lord: "So whatever you wish that men would do to you, do so to them" (Mt. 7:12). The time will come when all of us will set sail for that far country; if we wish to be accompanied on our own voyage by faithful prayers, it behooves us to send up our own supplications for the departed while we still are able.

Herein we find many names, clergy and lay, men and women, monastics and non-monastics. We may not have known many of these people—perhaps hardly any of these people—in our lifetime, but the time of this life is but nothing compared to eternity, wherein the faithful, as one family, born not of the will of the flesh but of the love of God (Jn. 1:13), will enjoy that same love forever. By fulfilling our clerical duty to pray for the faithful departed, we not only express our hope in the strength of Christ's divine love for man; we become participants in the holy bond of love that unites the faithful throughout time and eternity, indeed, the bond of love that unites the persons of God himself in Trinity from before all ages.

May that invincible love of God, manifest in Christ, kindled in us by the Spirit, grant rest eternal and blessed repose to all those whose names are found in this commemorative list, and may that same love also grant mercy and salvation to those who pray using this book.

With my primatial prayers and blessing,

PRAYER

O GOD of spirits and of all flesh, who hast trampled down death, and overthrown the devil, and given life unto thy world: do thou, the same Lord, give rest to the souls of thy departed servants, NN., in a place of brightness, a place of refreshment, a place of repose, whence all sickness, sorrow, and sighing have fled away. Pardon every transgression which they have committed, whether by word or deed or thought, for thou art a good God and lovest mankind. For there is no man who lives yet does not sin; for thou only art without sin; thy righteousness is an everlasting righteousness, and thy word is truth.

For thou art the resurrection and the life and the repose of thy servants NN., who are fallen asleep, O Christ our God, and unto thee do we send up glory, together with thy Father, who is without beginning, and thine all-holy, good, and life-giving Spirit, now and ever and unto ages of ages. Amen.
